Student Gov't Defeats Bill To Play 'Dixie' At Games

By LARRY DALE KEELING Assistant Managing Editor

The Student Government Assembly by a tie vote of 15-15 defeated a bill requesting the playing of "Dixie" at future athletic events after a debate Thursday night that included shouting, singing and a parliamentary free-for-all.

With much less confusion, a bill formally opposing the third gay," he replied. point of the Faculty Senate policy governing speakers from off-campus was passed. The third point of the policy is the controversial "academic relevancy"

About 80 people, including some 40 black students, attended the meeting in anticipation that the "Dixie" bill would come to

The confusion began during discussion of amendments to the bill. Joe Isaac, a member of SAR

(Students for Action and Responsibility) which led the opposition to the bill, said, "There's a line in there that would lead us to believe that the people who line the back of this room (the black students) become homosexuals in the summer.'

Isaac was asked to quote the line.

"Tis summer, the darkies are

It was then pointed out to Isaac that the line came from 'My Old Kentucky Home.

The debate of the amendments was primarily concerned with whether the bill could truly say that an "overwhelming majority of the students, alumni and supporters" of UK wished the song to be played.

Personal Poll

Raymond (Fireball) Vail, an at-large representative, said his own personal poll showed that an overwhelming majority" were in favor of the playing of "Dixie."

He was asked when his poll would be published.

Two amendments were passed to the bill striking the clauses saying that the song was not derogatory or offensive to any race, religion or creed and that "overwhelming majority" supported "Dixie."

Then the discussion of the bill as amended began and so did the confusion.

A motion was quickly made to bring the bill to a vote but was defeated.

The rules were then suspended to give James Embry, president of the Black Student Union, a chance to address the assembly.

There are several black athletes on the football team," said. "They don't wish that the song be played. You should consider their feelings.

He added that the lyrics of the song may not be racist but the context and the connotation were. He said it gives some fans a chance to express their racism to black students in the stands and on the field.

"A school song should be a rallying point," he said, "and 'Dixie' is not our school song." Embry told the assembly that Student Government has a lot of power in their hands but that "You don't know who's for it or against it," he added. "All I know is that the KA's are for it and I know what it stands for.

Racial Confrontation

Joe Maguire, another member of SAR, then read a statement condemning the bill.

"The 'Dixie' issue is one which pits two segments of the University in a confrontation of a racial nature," the statement "Student Covernment would be much more faithful to its role as a student representative organ were it to concentrate its energy upon arbitrating such dispute. It is inconceivable that this body would be performing its function were it to take sides on such an issue.

Following his statement, Maguire said he would read from certain articles in magazines to back up the contention that 'Dixie' was a racist song.

Speaker Steve Bright then intervened to tell Maguire that if anyone objected to his reading he must have the permission of the assembly as a whole. An objection was quickly raised to the Thom Pat Juul, also of SAR told Bright that Maguire had just read a statement to the assembly and that every week whole bills were read.

'Sir, there is nothing in that little brown book," he added, as Bright quickly checked his Robert's Rules of Order Revised.

'Dixie' Not Racist

Monty Hall then said the majority of the students at UK do not think of "Dixie" as a racist

We do not do this to say that I'm white and you're black, he said to the black students. "We don't want to ride roughshod over a minority.

He then moved that a vote

At this point Joe Maguire told Bright that by the rules he still had the floor from the time when he read his statement. Bright ruled that he didn't.

A motion was then made to overrule the chair, but it failed. The motion to vote on the bill also failed and the discussion continued.

Linda Bailey was then given the floor and yielded to Maguire who started to read again. Bright ruled him out of order.

Thom Pat Juul said, "I think you, Mr. Bright, have shown your choo-choo charley. I am sick and tired of you butchering Robert's Rules of Order to force a bill on these students.

Another motion was made to vote on the bill. The vote was taken and Bright ruled that it passed. Juul then asked for a roll Bright again ruled that the roll call had passed. Juul moved for a recount and the motion was defeated. Juul then asked for a secret ballot on the motion for the recount.

At this point the assembly was voting on whether or not to have a secret ballot on the motion to have a recount of the roll call of the motion to vote on the bill. The motion to call a vote on the bill finally failed and discussion continued.

Maguire then moved to amend the bill to add to "Dixie" a list of other songs to be played. The list included "We Shall Over-come," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," 'The Battle Hymn of the Repuband "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You.

'Out Of Order'

Bright ruled the motion "frivolous and out of order.'

Juul then, "in a very serious manner," moved the same amendment. It was again ruled "frivolous and out of order.

Juul, "in a very serious manmoved the amendment again, adding to the list of songs "America" and "America the Beautiful." Out of order.

Another motion to overrule the chair failed, but a roll call vote was called and the chair was overruled. The amendment was defeated.

Juul then moved to amend the bill to add the Black National Anthem to "Dixie." 'If the non-racist members

Down With 'Dixie' Some 80 students showed up at Thursday night's Student Government meeting to debate the issue of 'Dixie.' James Embry (above) spoke out against the playing of the song at games because of its racist connotations. SG members who voted against the bill favoring the playing of 'Dixie' celebrated following its defeat. Most of the members pictured are members of Students for Action and Responsibility (SAR).

CARSA Calls 'Dixie' Racist

"The debate on whether or not to play Dixie has become a fight between the Greeks and the BSU." "The song symbolizes white racism.

These were two statements made by CARSA members who last night voted to support the Black Student Union's stand against playing the song.

A representative from the group was immediately sent to the Student Government meeting, which was going on at the same time, to voice CARSA's stand on the matter then in debate.

There was some concern expressed over who would be the next president of the University. A committee was appointed to get information on all six nominees. A motion to distribute this information and hold a mock student election was tabled.

The group was informed that it would not act as plaintiff in the suits against the Kentucky Un-American Activities Committee. However, if KUAC decides to investigate CARSA it can become plaintiff, thereby protecting its members.

Two faculty members were nominated for positions on CARsteering committee-Dr. Gene Mason and Dr. Leonard Jordan. The nominees are to be contacted and an election held next week.

More Than Six Candidates In Running For President

"The next president at UK could well be" someone not on the Courier-Journal's list, Dr. Angelucci said.

He expressed concern Wednesday night over the effect of the story on the selection of a new president.

The Courier-Journal listed as the six candidates still being considered for the presidency:

Dr. Charles Bishop of the University of North Carolina; Dr. Robert Clodius of the University of Wisconsin; Dr. Otis Singletary Ir. of the University of Texas; Dr. Ivan Bennett Jr., who is on leave from Johns Hopkins University; and two UK officials, Executive Vice President Dr. A. D. Albright and Dr. Charles Haywood, dean of the college of Business and Economics.

tory of America," edited by Hubert Humphrey, Richard Nixon and George Wallace.

A completely revised version of American History is scheduled to go on sale in most bookstores by early next month. The new book is unique in that it takes a dim view of the American Revolution.

Rumors persist to crop up saying that editors Humphrey, Nixon and Wallace rewrote American history because they feel the precedent set by the war of independence has been overemphasized and is leading the youth of America astray.

"After all," Nixon has been quoted as saying, "If the American Revolution is justifiable, you might as well say 'The Revolution' (the current movement among young people) is also justifiable.

In order to make American history compatible with their campaign speeches, the three editors reportedly united "for the common good" to rewrite the story of America.

To this end, America's Revolutionary leaders are portrayed in the revised text as "anarchists, ne'er do wells and spoiled brats.'

The book does allow exceptions to this picture, as in the case of George Washington and other founding fathers, who are described as "well-meaning but perhaps slightly misled by the radicals."

Editor Wallace, however, cast a dissenting footnote saying, "Although Washington and his pointed-head cronies may not have been smelly, they had just as long hair as any anarchists I've ever

A review of "The Revised His- seen. . . and they sure dressed awfully frivolous-nothing like you'd ever see in Alabama."

> This refreshingly different view of American history is maintained throughout the entire chronicalization of the Revolutionary period. It is this reviewer's opinion that more such approaches should be taken in other fields of learning.

As for criticism of the new history text, one can say only that it is a pity the book did not get further along. The editors/authors had intended originally to revise American History through current times.

But they managed to get only to the Civil War. It was at this point that a horrible schism of opinion developed among the three. Nixon and Humphrey maintained that in this war it was the confederacy who should be pictured as the anarchists, etc.

But Wallace apparently could not accept this contention. When confronted by his two co-editors with evidence to support their position, Wallace is said to have screamed in horror, after which he fled to a closet somewhere in Alabama where he locked himself up for a long period of time.

In the meantime Nixon and Humphrey were forced to release their incomplete text in order to meet the election day deadline.

This reviewer, after much effort, managed to reach Wallace by telephone and persuade him to break his silence on the Civil War history matter.

"It just can't be, it just can't be," he sobbed pitifully. "That isn't the way my mother told it."

Alarming ABM By passing the defense appropriations bill Wednesday, the Senate has committed this nation, and in fact the rest of the world, to another seemingly irrevocable step in the already-terrifying arms race. Included in the $71.8 billion bill was the appropriation which will permit the deployment of an Anti-Ballistic Missle System (ABM).

The ABM deployment will cost the United States billions of dollars, billions which could be better used in the cities of this country. But this is not the only cost, nor even the greatest cost, which will result from the ABM decision.

Behind closed doors, Kentucky Sen. John Sherman Cooper presented the Senate with intelligence information reportedly which showed that the actual strengths of Russian and Chinese missle capabilities did not, at this time, warrant the deployment of the Sentinel ABM system. In a public speech, cooper commented further that the Chinese would have less than 10 missles by the middle Seventies.

If this is true, then the rest of the world can hardly interpret the new defense system as anything but further American preparations for military conflict. And with this idea, other nations will have no choice but to up their own military production and technology. Where all this is leading us is uncertain, but clearly the United States must share a large part of the blame for the horrifying possibility that waits at the end of the anti-missle-missle path.

To the Editor of the Kernel:

The minority activist groups on the campus have every right to protest, demand their civil rights, cry for free speech, dress uniformly oddly, or do their thing. These are their rights, privileges and responsibilities.

Most of these organizations, however, are peopled by hypocrites. The very rights they are demanding they would deny to others.

I refer to the playing of "Dixie" at athletic functions. Based on the cheers that go up, this tune is enjoyed by many. It is a form of expression, of free speech. Yet groups demand that it not be played. This is censorship of the most blatant form. If this censorship is successful what is next? Perhaps a book-burning could be followed by a raid on the Kemel

> A. W. Rudnick, Jr. Associate Professor

To the Editor of the Kernel:

A goal of the educated person should be to know about and understand the forces which have shaped the world in which he lives and influenced his life. In so many instances these forces are ideas originated and expounded by a very few great men.

Man is a creature of patterned behavior derived mainly from learned, shared and, importantly, symbolically transmitted culture. Ideas and concepts are the basis of human values and behavior. It is the ideas of men, therefore, that have become the great forces around which human energies have been focused in the last two thousand years. It is for this reason that we should be exposed to the important ideas of men that have affected social relations, and man's idea of himself and the natural world. Therefore, Mr. John Kirk, you and I should both be taught the importance, impact and originality of the conceptual, ideological systems of such man as Christ, Buddha, Descartes, Darwin, Newton, Einstein, Jefferson, Gandhi and, yes Mr. John Kirk, Marx along with others. These men have all influenced tremendously the way you and I live.

If Mr. Leonard Jordan is one of the few professors on this campus willing to objectively present the theories of Marx and the resulting effects on social structure and relations, then he should not only be commended bu also exemplified as a model to other teachers as to how to make education relevant to the students' life.

> Greg Wilmoth A & S Senior

To the Editor of the Kernel:

As a duly bona fide officer of "QUACK" want to present a shiny new penny (enclosed), engraved with a caraciture of our beloved majesty Abraham Lincoln on one side and the heart warming mottoes "E. Pluribus Unum", "United States of America", and "One Cent" on the other, to distinguished Law Student John Kirk for his erudite thoughts as expressed in a letter to Monday's Kernel (9/30/68). We have every reason to believe this young boy will make his mark some day in local government and want to give him this penny as a start.

Also we wish to emphasize what this boy has written by repeating it here in shortened form. It is simply this: any man who has a picture on his door and says nice or even neutral things about a man who advocates slavery (Carl Marx) or who has killed 25,000 United States servicemen (Ho Chi Minh) deserves repraisals (we do not advocate violence, however, if some concerned citizens wish to even get a little bit rough with the villian, this is their freedom).

To get serious, I feel capitalism is much better system for Americans, although I have learned enough to understand that communism has many merits too. At any rate only a very niave mind carries premisis such as Kirks's. I also believe we should fight if necessary (including wars like Vietnam) to preserve our way of life.

I do not, however, think you can win wars or minds by adopting an attitude of blind hatred toward your "enemy" To side track for a moment, how long do you think the Bisfrans would have fought against the Nigerians if they hadn't practiced such blind hatred toward the Ibos? I suspect Leonard Jordan is making a very sincere effort to understand what we call the enemy, and that the pictures on the door are designed only to provoke honest thought, not treason.

Show John Kirk that you think he is nothing more than an ignorant "tattle tale" by sending him your next "bugger"; he will forward it to the Governor.

Jokes about touchy subjects pervaded the hour, and were all tied together in a skit spoofing NBC's "Bonanza"—the Brother's competition in the Sunday, 9 p.m. EDT time slot.

Mama Cass Elliott played "Hass" of the "Cartwrong" family, inspiring the line, "You're real smart, Hass." And giant pro footballer Rosy Greer appeared as the long-lost Mrs. Cartwrong. Her son Little Jerk (Harry Belafonte), seeing her for the first time, said, "You're a big mother." Suggestive spice like that is rare, even on the Tonight

Passing Not Enough; Kittens Lose 27-16

By CHIP HUTCHESON Kernel Staff Writer

The UK freshman went to the phase of their game they had worked on the most, but it wasn't enough to upend a wellpolished Marshall frosh team Thursday night.

The Kittens were forced into the situation of having to throw the football throughout the night in the 27-16 loss.

"If we could be pleased with anything, it was our pass offense," said freshman coach Wally English.

Garnett Scott quarterbacked the squad most of the first half, throwing a touchdown pass and finishing the game with four completions out of 14 attempts. Steve Tingle worked most of the second half, completing 14 of 31 passes.

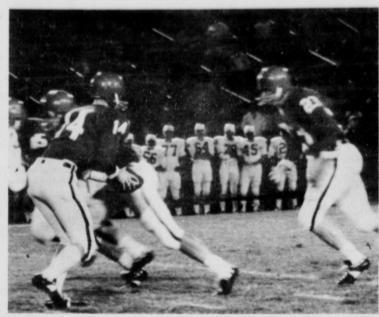

"We really wanted to get Paul' Karem into the game at quarterback, but we needed a thrower so we went with Tingle, probably our best passer," English said.

The big show of the night for UK was put on by end Jim Grant, who caught 12 passes for 168 yards and two touchdowns.

On the defensive side of the ledger, the Marshall offense gave them a rough time. Quarterback Ted Shoebridge completed 14 of 36 passes for 241 yards, and the Marshall ground game was good for 161 yards.

"Our defense needs to become more aggressive," English said. "We need to work as a unit. There was some real fine individual play.

English pointed out safety Lynn Gary, linebackers Joe Federspiel and Bill DeSensi as playing good defensive games.

Scott To Domhoff

Kitten quarterback Garnett Scott, 14, hands off to tailback Tom Domhoff, 23, for a short gain in the first half of the UK-Marshall freshman game at Stoll Field Thursday night. The UK Frosh debut was spoiled as they took it on the chin 27-16.

Big problem.

Simple solution:

New Honda.

This lean, lithe Honda 125 Super Sport can be the answer to a lot of problems besides parking.

Consider price. You can buy this beauty at an impressively low initial price; fuel it for a fraction of what you'd spend on a four-wheel gas gulper. And, of course, there are the pleasantly painless costs of maintaining and insuring a Honda.

The 125 Super Sport couples lightweight economy with red hot performance features. Its dependable four-stroke parallel twin engine produces a dazzling 13 bhp; acceleration that matches the best of them.

And styling. The 125 Super Sport is nothing but class from its streamlined pipes to its sculptured tank to its rugged telescopic front forks. The sleek and sassy 125 Super Sport. Is there a better way to solve your problems?

Auburn No Turning Point, But UK Win Would Be Nice

By JIM MILLER Kernel Sports Editor

Some people think the Auburn game will be the turning point in UK's season.

According to some, a win over the Plainsmen, Tigers or War Eagles (whichever you prefer) would give UK a 2-1 record and put them in better position for the winning season that has so long eluded them.

Head coach Charlie Bradshaw

"I don't know what people mean by a 'turning point, Bradshaw said in an interview Thursday. "There is no turning point. We play games one at a time and right now we've got eight to go.

The Wildcats may have eight to go, but the visitors from Auburn could give UK its stiffest challenge to date-even more so than Ole Miss last weekend.

Quarterback Carter The Tigers have, in Brad-shaw's words, "as good, if not a better passing attack than we'll face all season.

The main reason is quarterback Loran Carter. Carter led the Southeastern Conference in pass yardage (1307) and tied for the lead in pass attempts (178) and touchdown passes (9) in 1967.

After an opening loss to SMU, Carter led Auburn to a 26-0 pasting of Mississippi State.

the Sigs' six-pointers.

Although Carter is the starter

he has been splitting game time about 60-40 with another signalcaller, Dwight Brisendine.

'Brisendine is the sprint-out quarterback who runs the option well," Bradshaw said. "He will occasionally drop back and pass from the pocket, but usually they leave that up to Carter.

Brisendine Outside Threat

Brisendine will be the prime threat when the Plainsmen begin their outside running game, which is another strong point. In Mike Currier and Larry Ellis Auburn has speed with power.

Assistant Coach Charlie Pell, in charge of game plans, said after the Tigers' win over Missis-sippi State, "Defensively this is the strongest Auburn team I've ever seen.

Pell says this Auburn team is stronger, overall, than last season's which beat the Wildcats 48-7 by way of Carter's arm.

It was after the Auburn game last year that Bradshaw revised his entire defensive backfield. The '68 UK secondary should put on a better show than last year's anemic group.

Dave Hunter, a sophomore from Pine Bluff, Ark., adds a dimension to the secondary that it lacked last season-speed.

Christian Threat

"Hunter's speed adds a lot to it (the defensive backfield), Bradshaw said. "That extra speed in there can mean a lot.'

With receivers like split end Tim Christian, who has been on the receiving end of 19 Carter passes in two games, the UK secondary will get its biggest test of the young season.

Wingback Joe Jacobs and de-fensive end Jeff Van Note may not start against Auburn. Both suffered slight ankle injuries in the Ole Miss game and their status is "doubtful."

BARGAIN RELIGIONS

9-6 Daily-Open til 9 p.m., Mon. & Fri.

EWELRY MANUFACTURERS do a very profitable business in imitation gold crosses. It's human nature to hunt for bargains, even tion gold crosses. It's numan nature to fulfill for bargains, even in religious items. That's why so many people turn to religious that cost them little, modern cults and isms that offer a comtorting sense of God's nearness and do away with the idea of hell entirely. It is only human to want a religion that de-emphasizes punishment for sin. However, a bargain may have serious hidden flaws. The thing you buy cheaply often turns out to be worthless.

Christianity is a religion of choice. The consequences of that choice are clearly set forth in the Bible. He who chooses Christ is reconciled with God, born anew, assured of eternal life. He who rejects Christ and chooses to continue in the sin of a self-directed life condemns himself to trouble of soul, divorces himself from reality and ultimate purpose, and in the end suffers eternal loss.
